Main Conclusions

This monitoring report retained its previous year quality and went even further with specifying some additional information as it became available during the implementation of the commitment. The recommendations from previous assessment were successfully taken on board and the report is well-structured, concise and clearly written scoring the highest number in each area.

Information on the scoring process

In a change from the 2010 evaluation, information provided under "other comments" is not rated or commented upon due to reporting inconsistencies and the subsequent difficulties to establish meaningful comparisons. Therefore, the corresponding section (formerly section 10) is not included in this year's feedback forms.

For intermediate reports, sections 9 (evaluation) and 10 (dissemination) are optional. If no information is provided in these sections, the maximum score for the monitoring report is 30. If information is provided in both sections, the maximum score is 40. If information is present in only one of the two sections, the maximum score is 35. In conclusion, the maximum score for an intermediate report is 30, 35 or 40, depending on the range of information provided.

For final reports the maximum score is 40 as replies to sections 9 and 10 are mandatory at the final stage of a commitment.

One of the innovations built into the 2011 assessment process consists of accounting for the extent to which recommendations issued to Forum members in the previous assessment exercise have been integrated into the new monitoring reports. For each main section of the reports, a "recommendation uptake" score is provided. This will be either 0 (recommendations have been poorly taken into account, if at all), 1 (progress has been made in taking recommendations on board), or 2 (most recommendations have been successfully implemented). The "recommendation uptake" in the review assessment exercise.
